TM Cerno Pacific and Emerging Fund Class A GBP

A sub fund of the TM Cerno Investment Funds

ISIN: GB00BDCJ9Z32

This Fund is managed by Thesis Unit Trust Management Limited.

Objectives and Investment Policy

The investment objective of the Fund is to provide a rate of return above average for the Fund's sector which is the flexible investment sector, as designated by the Investment Association, taking into account the Fund's risk profile, with a focus on capital growth.

The Fund will invest primarily in collective investment schemes in order to gain exposure to various asset classes and investment styles including equities, fixed income investments, eligible alternatives and other transferable securities, money market instruments, deposits, cash and near cash investments and derivatives across Asia Pacific and the Emerging Markets.

The Fund may also invest directly in those asset classes, and may at times hold a significant amount in cash.

Derivatives may be used for both investment purposes and Efficient Portfolio Management.

The base currency of the Fund is pounds sterling.

Income arising from the Fund is distributed to the holders of income units and reinvested in the case of accumulation units. Investors can buy and sell units on demand when the scheme prices daily at 12 midday.

Risk and Reward Profile

The risk rating of the Fund is category 5 due to the volatility of simulated data which sits in a range of between 10% and 15%. The risk rating is calculated using historical data and a prescribed standard deviation methodology. The simulated data used is consistent with risk limits of the Fund.

- This indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund.
- The risk and reward category shown is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and may shift over time.
- The lowest category does not mean 'risk free'.
- This indicator is not a measure of the risk that you may lose the amount you have invested.

The following risks are material in addition to the risks captured by the indicator above:

- This Fund is allowed to use derivatives to achieve its objective. Derivatives can cause a Fund to become leveraged. Leverage occurs when exposure to an area invested in is greater than the amount invested, resulting in the Fund being exposed to a potentially greater loss than the initial investment.
- The Fund may use derivatives to reduce costs, overall risk and/or generate additional capital or income. This is known as Efficient Portfolio Management (EPM). When used for EPM purposes, there should not be an increase in the overall risk level of the Fund.
- Where derivative investments in the Fund may include a counterparty, there is a risk that the counterparty will not fulfil their obligation.
- More political, economic or structural challenges face emerging markets or less developed countries than developed countries which may increase volatility and uncertainty.
- Where investments in the Fund are in currencies other than your own, changes in exchange rates may affect the value of your investments.
- The Fund has a concentrated portfolio (holds a limited number of investments) and if one or more of these investments declines or is otherwise affected, it may have a pronounced effect on the Fund's value.
- Investment in other funds may mean that the objectives and risk profiles of those underlying funds may not (always) be fully in line with those of the Fund.
- The price of units/shares and any income from them may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. There is no assurance that the investment objective of the Fund will actually be achieved.

All the risks currently identified as being applicable to the Fund are set out in the 'Risk Factors' section of the Prospectus.
